

Claims

- [c1] A Method for varying the overall image and dimension of wall art by means of a group of structures with a design that lends itself to this method, and that said structure can be arranged in various ways enabling the overall image and, or dimensions to vary.